

Cash Pricing

What is a cash price?

A cash price provides a means of selling your grain for a known base price on the day of physical delivery to your relevant bulk handler.

Availability

The table below provides an indication of Glencore Grain's intention, subject to the option being made available by various bulk handlers, to post cash prices at harvest. Please note: the option to deliver grain for cash may be removed or added at Glencore Grain's discretion without notice.

Delivery

You can elect to sell your grain for cash to Glencore Grain providing there is a segregation open for delivery and Glencore Grain is posting a cash price for your delivery grade(s).

Growers in SA, VIC, NSW and QLD need to register with the National Grower Register (NGR) and deliver using their NGR delivery number to Glencore Grain's cash prices at site. Please note CBH do not offer cash pricing in WA.

How will I be paid?

For cash deliveries you will be paid on the bin-grade of your grain deliveries, on a load-by-load basis, as classified by the bulk handler.

Quality

Cash prices with quality adjustments are available for canola and are paid as per the Australian Oilseed Federations' (AOF) payment scales adjusting for oil content and admixture results. Unless otherwise agreed there is no adjustment for quality on other commodities.

Levies

As with all deliveries, Glencore Grain will deduct any relevant statutory or research levies from your final cash payment. For more information about the levies that apply in your state, contact your local Glencore Grain representative or Grower Services on 1300 453 626.

Payment

You will receive 100% cash payment 5 days from the end of week for your cash grain deliveries. A calendar week begins on the morning of a Monday and ends at midnight the following Sunday.
